

THE HOLY GRAIL

106 NEW OXFORD STREET

'The Holy Grail' explores the human desire to confront our deepest fears to find fulfilment. As the legend goes, when the knights of King Arthur begin their quest to find the grail, they were guided by Merlin to find the darkest part of the wood to begin their journey. The artists in this show mirror this journey in their practice, by exploring some of the more shadowy parts of the psyche to try to understand the whole.

The grail signifies a stage of development of the human spirit, when man is no longer satisfied with the materialistic view or with the effectiveness of working things but goes beyond this and endows the concrete with a symbolic meaning.

_Emma Jung and Maria von Franz

Symbolic meaning emanates from all the work in the show. This resonates as we come out of lock down, where tactility was absent, plans put on hold, and we were collectively confronted with our own personal meaning after being separated from our collective meaning in the world of work and day to day society. However, this experience of meaning is not a thing like a cup or bowl, but the feeling of doing the right thing at the right time, whether that is making art or exhibiting it or even the process of the two.

Humanity has taken its search for meaning from the macro to the microscopic level, searching to understand our purpose within the universes' constituent parts. Oppenheimer split the very foundations of the universe in half to find unlimited energy. But, as with Oppenheimer, this quest has its light and dark side, as Richard Feynman elegantly said:

To every man is given the key to the gates of heaven. The same key opens the gates of hell.

The pandemic has forced us to reconsider our meaning, so how will we emerge from this moment in history, what is our holy grail now?

ABOUT OHSH

OHSH Projects was conceived in 2021 from the desire to create tactile conversations between artists and spaces, by Henry Hussey and Sophia Olver. The project has currently taken up residence at 106 New Oxford Street, a former restaurant, appropriated and transformed to present art in the centre of London. OHSH Projects is a collage of ideas explored through the artists we work with and the dialogues that emerge between their processes.

HUGO HARRIS + HANNAH LIM

b.1996 b.1998. Live and work in London, UK.

Hugo Harris and Hannah Lim began collaborating with each other whilst studying at Edinburgh College of Art. Their latest series of works are a continuation of a project combining their own practices in response to individual Royal Scottish Academy research scholarships in Florence. They both became interested in the way that patronage is weaved into the design of family commissioned side-chapels and by the religious objects within them. These works display a blend of Hannah's practice, which she uses to explore concepts of cultural identity through sculptural design, and Hugo's, which is primarily concerned with the mechanisms of the human body. This series of work was first shown as part of an off-site collaborative show with Harlesden High Street and Underground Flower.

JON BAKER

Lives and works in London, UK.

Jon makes large macro cameras, photographing directly onto huge sheets of photo paper. The images are large, glossy and bright. Jon has had multiple solo exhibitions 'Chewed Pink Owl', London (2019), 'Piss, Plants, Plastic', London (2018) 'Magic Control', London (2017) and 'Gape', Photofusion development award, London (2015).

ADAM DIX

Lives and works in London, UK.

Adam's paintings are deceptively benign on first glance; the subtle densely layered oil glazes, nostalgic imagery and well-handed colour bring together a world depicting community and ritual, whilst traversing the landscape of analogue and digital medias through a blend of traditional folk customs, religious ceremony and contemporary communication. Adam studied a BA (Hons) in Graphics and Illustration in 1990 at Middlesex and in 2009 an MA in Fine Art at Wimbledon College of Art.

ROSIE GIBBENS

b. 1993, London, UK.

Rosie makes performances, videos and sculptures. She uses absurdity in an attempt to unravel various elements of contemporary culture; particularly gender performativity, consumerist desire and their overlaps. She approaches her work as perverse advertisements or product demonstrations, where the term 'sex sells' is interpreted overly literally. Rosie's work has been shown at London galleries including Saatchi, Somerset House, Bow Arts, South London Gallery, Barbican and Elephant West. She holds a masters degree in Contemporary Art Practice: Performance from the Royal College of Art (2018) and Ba in Performance Design and Practice from Central Saint Martins (2015).
